MONDAY, OCTOBER 17

News.—Important intelligence will be found under the telegraphic head—four days later from Europe, and later from California. Death of Minister Mason, at Paris; London Times still claiming San Juan, and pitching into General Harney; the Great Eastern to sail on the 8th of November, &c.

Blanket Sheets and Penny Papers.

Water gruel without salt is more insipid, weak and nauseating than much of the cheap trash which has been served in the current report of mammoth newspaper literature. The spice and porter-house steak are needed. We hope in our thumb-paper folio to give palatable food, though in broken doses. Brief, pointed paragraphs are needed. Western people can't be stuffed with poison or pretence. We must come back to our "bib and tucker" days. Our preparations must be made for a bolder age than the past. We must supply the demand for substantial food.

Tact and Talent.

A pithy proverb practically applied, has a profitable power. Before commencing the labor of the day, let our readers have a thought about them of some of FRANKLIN'S or SOLOMON'S wise sayings, and ten to one they will be a debtor to them before night for the result of placing them in practice. Talent is power—talent is skill, talent is weight—talent is momentum; talent knows what to do—talent knows how to do it; talent makes a man respectable—talent will make him respected; talent is wealth—talent is ready money; talent is fit for employment, but talent is fitted for it; talent convinces—talent converts; talent commands—talent obeys. In the light of these instructive maxims, we ask our young readers, fitting themselves for the task of life, if they wish to have the right kind of music, to remember the aphorism—that "talent without tact is like a fiddle without a bow."

Resignation.

The columns of a newspaper contain daily some narrative of grievous affliction endured by some of the suffering sons and daughters of humanity, in the varied walks of life. These narratives have a lesson to petty grumblers. We are too apt to complain of our petty grievances as intense, when indeed our lot is one of comparative comfort, as was the man who went into the street, sorrowing that he had no shoes, but was learned to bow in reconciliation when he found a neighbor without feet. That which we can remedy we should regulate. Beyond this, the devout say, "Thy will be done!" It is difficult to conceive any thing more beautiful than the reply given by one in affliction, when he was asked how he bore it so well. "It lightens the stroke," said he, "to draw near to him that handles the rod."

Our Carrier in Indianapolis.

The local of the Indianapolis Atlas rather like the energy and activity of our carrier at that place. He says of him: "The most energetic person we know, is a red-haired man who carries the Penny Press in this portion of the city. He darts in and out of various places of business, where the Press is taken, with a celerity quite astonishing, and to see him flying along the streets with his coat-tails flapping in the wind, one would think he was propelled by a steam engine. He gives all his attention and speed to the rapid delivery of the Press, and though his quick rolling eyes takes in at a glance everything passing around him, bestows for nothing while going his usual rounds, but keeps right on, forgetting none of his subscribers, and commencing his own railroad speed to everybody he meets. We are not personally acquainted with him, nor do we know his name, but we like him because he possesses so much snap and railroad energy, and is so efficient in the performance of his duty, however humble."

Funny for Corwin.

Here is another good thing about Tom Corwin from the Mac-a-cheek Press: While this eloquent orator of the people was speaking at Springfield, Ohio, to dense thousands, a black, middle-aged bull-terrier, with a round face not unlike Corwin's, climbed upon the stand, and taking his place by the orator, calmly looked out over "the sea of upturned faces." He did this in such a knowing manner that the audience began to laugh. Corwin noticed it at last, waved the dog back with his hand, saying, "Come, one at a time, old fellow." Bull stepped back a few paces and turned his head on one side with a quizzical expression, as if inquiring what he meant. Corwin returned the look as near like Bull's as his wonderfully expressive countenance could come, and then said confidentially to the crowd, "I do believe he thinks of leaving the other dogs and joining the Republican party!" This was followed by a roar, in the midst of which Bull looked up his head and deliberately trotted out of the hall—every part of him saying, plainly as a dog could speak, that he "wouldn't stand any more of such d— nonsense."

The statement in regard to the identity of the British Admiral, now serving in the East Indies, with the Captain of the Endymion, when engaged with the President in 1815, is erroneous. The latter was Henry Hope, who was born in 1787, appointed captain in the Royal Navy the 24th of May, 1808, and Admiral of the Blue, his present rank, in 1855; while the Admiral who commanded at Peiho, in China, the 25th of June, was born in 1805, appointed Captain in the Navy in 1835, and Rear Admiral of the Blue on the 19th of November, 1857. The two Admirals are cousins.

Albert Gallatin, grandson of the former Vice-President, died September 13, in the thirty-fifth year of his age, at Geneva, Switzerland, having sailed from Philadelphia on the 20th of June last, for the benefit of his health. Pure, high-minded and honorable, he was widely esteemed, and was likewise distinguished in his profession for sound judgment and accuracy of legal investigation. He died in the birthplace of his grandfather, who was a Swiss.

According to advices from Cape Town, dated June 18, the Swedish traveler, Anderson, has at length reached the Orange River, and proposes to explore the mouth of the river and the adjoining country, previous to his return to Europe. At present excellent health, and was received with great cordiality by King Mangona.

Senator Douglas has recently had borne unto him an heir of his fame and estates, who will be known as "Ellen."

The Diamond Wedding—Cuba and the United States Annexed.

The long talked-of and hugely magnified wedding of Don Estaban Santa Cruz de Oro and Miss Frances Amelia Bartlett, took place on Thursday last. Of it the Times says:

"As the utmost pains had been taken by the parties interested with the arrangements to make the affair one of public notoriety, there was a vast throng present at St. Patrick's Cathedral, where the choicest seats had been reserved for the creme de la creme of Gotham society; a middle region set apart for the less pretentious middle class; and the remainder of the sacred precincts consecrated to the mob. At noon Archbishop Hughes appeared, followed immediately by the bridegroom, and the marriage was solemnized according to the Roman Catholic ritual. Curiosity was abundantly gratified in the inspection of the wealthy bridegroom and of his young and handsome bride, whose expensive parure had so long been the theme of exaggerated gossip. "After being warned by the Archbishop against any imitation of King Henry VIII or Napoleon I., and encouraged with the reasonable hope of an average conjugal happiness, the bridegroom was dismissed; the bride turning to the audience, gladdened a thousand eyes with the spectacle of her unruffled beauty as she embraced, one after another, her parents and her bridesmaids, shook hands with her groomsmen, and retiring through the vestry, took carriage for her paternal home in Fourteenth-street. The crowd, blue, white, black and gray, dispersed itself as best it could. Most-street saw the vision of love and luxury fade from its battered and seedy precincts as suddenly as it had arisen; the distinguished wonder-seekers departed, and the interest of the day, dying gently out through three hours of Brown, policemen, bride-cake, homage, oysters, jam, suffocation, admiration and the worship of rouseau at the house of Mr. Bartlett in Fourteenth-street, passed into history forever and these faithful chronicles."

Dr. LYMAN BEECHER.—The venerable Dr. Lyman Beecher, on Wednesday, reached his eighty-fourth year. He is in good health. The Independent says:

During the past summer he has visited six of his children, residing in Connecticut and Massachusetts. While in Hartford he attended the wedding of one of his granddaughters, and while on his return trip, visited Guilford, Conn., to review the scenes of his early life, where he married his first wife (in 1797) the mother of seven children, now living. His health is generally good, enabling him to attend nearly all the meetings at Plymouth Church, in which he often bears a part. He spent his birthday with his most intimate college friend and classmate, the venerable S. T. Staples, Esq., of New York.

WARM RECEPTION OF GENERAL SCOTT ON THE Isthmus.—An Aspinwall correspondent of the New York Times says that General Scott was received in that city with great enthusiasm. Every one seemed anxious to contribute his presence, and to give the American chief a warm greeting. Salutes were fired and cheers given. Upon landing, the General was escorted by the American shipmen in port to the Howard House, where he was met by hundreds who were eager to see him. Here the old hero was waited upon by the Prefect, Senor Arceneaux, the foreign Consuls and several American and foreign gentlemen, who were severally introduced to him.

LATEST BY TELEGRAPH

Sunday Evening Dispatches.

Four Days Later from Europe.

NORTH BRITON AT FARTHER POINT.

Death of U. S. Minister Mason.

FURTHER POINT, October 16.
The steamship North Briton passed this point early this morning, with Liverpool dates to Wednesday, the 5th inst.

The steamer Europa arrived out on the 3d and the Anglo Saxon on the 4th.

Mr. Mason, United States Minister at Paris, died suddenly of apoplexy.

The Great Eastern was to leave Portland for Holyhead on the 8th inst.

All the six Plenipotentiaries were present at the Conference held on the 3d inst., at which time the articles of the treaty of peace were read over.

The Paris Patrie says that the treaty will be signed in a few days, and that it will confirm the cessation of Lombardy and contain a settlement of the Lombard debt. The affairs of Central Italy will be settled by the European congress.

It is asserted at Paris that Austria has consented to reduce the Piedmontese portion of the Lombard debt from four hundred million francs to a little more than half that sum.

ENGLAND.—The London Times has another sharp article on "the San Juan difficulty. While rejoicing at the mission of Lieutenant General Scott, and trusting to a pacific solution, the article asserts that the island belongs to England, and pitches into General Harney as a filibuster."

A vague rumor prevails of a strike among the iron miners.

LIVERPOOL MARKET.
Liverpool, October 4.

Cotton.—Sales for the last three days have been 25,000 bales, including 2,000 bales to speculators and 5,000 for export. The market closed quiet, but steady. Holders are offering their stocks freely, but show no disposition to sell. Middling Orleans is quoted at 5 1/2, Uplands at 6 1/2.

The advices from Manchester are unfavorable, there being little inquiry for goods, and prices continue weak, with a partial decline for some articles.

Breadstuffs.—The market shows a declining tendency, and all descriptions are lower. Messrs. Richardson & Spence quote Flour dull, at a decline of 6d. per sack and barrel. Wheat has also declined 2d. per cent. Corn quiet and prices steady, no quotations given. Some of the circulars say that Breadstuffs closed quiet, being slow of sale, but prices unaltered.

Provisions.—The market closed dull but steady. Beef steady. Pork dull and steady. Bacon quiet. Lard steady and in better demand at 55s. 6d. @ 56s.

Produce.—Sugar steady. Rice dull. Coffee quiet. Spirits Turpentine steady at 55s. 9d.

LIVERPOOL, October 5.—P. M.
The cotton market closes steady. The sales to-day are estimated at 5,000 bales, including 1,600 bales for speculation and export. Breadstuffs close quiet. Provisions steady.

LONDON MARKET.
London, October 4.

Breadstuffs close dull, but steady. Corn firm and considerable business has been done in floating cargoes. Sugar heavy. Coffee dull. Tea slow of sale, but prices are without change. Rice firm.

LONDON MONEY MARKET.
London, October 5.—M.

Consols for money close at 95 1/2 @ 95 3/4 for money and 95 1/2 for account.

The builders' strike in London continues, the efforts to obtain a settlement of the difficulty having failed.

The transport ship Clara, with four hundred soldiers, and their wives and children on board, struck a rock in the English Channel, but the ship succeeded in reaching Portland harbor, leaking badly.

The London Times says that the agents of French, Austrian and Sardinian Governments are soliciting tenders from English iron founders for large quantities of rifled cannon.

FRANCE.—The Emperor is to leave Biarritz on the 10th inst., and will stop two days at Bordeaux, where it is expected he will make a speech.

The French army of observation will winter in Italy.

The latest rumor says that the preparations for the French expedition to China have been suspended, and the indications of a backing down by France are apparent.

Marshal Niel's order of the day on joining the troops at Toulon, has been construed into an admission that peace is not likely to last long.

The London Herald's Paris correspondent says that nothing is heard on every side but preparations for war, and gives a similar picture of affairs in Austria and Sardinia.

Mr. Mason died on the 3d inst.

General Changarnier had returned to Paris.

A letter from Paris says that the visit of the King of Belgium to Biarritz, in relation to the Belgium debt to France, has proved a perfect failure.

ITALY.—The Sardinian Government has sent a circular note to the representatives of the European Courts, urging the formation of a Kingdom of Upper Italy. It is asserted that the Pope has ordered the delivery of his passport to the Sardinian Minister. It is also reported that this has given rise to a collision between the Swiss troops and the neutrals, stationed at Cattolans.

It is said that an insurrectionary movement has occurred at Palermo.

The Sardinian standard has been hoisted on the old palaces and all the public buildings.

The decrees issued in Tuscany and Bologna state that in future all the public acts shall be headed, "Under the reign of His Majesty, Victor Emmanuel."

General Garibaldi has been enthusiastically received at Bologna.

In the order of the day issued by General Fanti, he promises that the tricolor of Italy, preceded by the old cross of Savoy, will precede the troops of Central Italy in fresh battles and forever "free Italy from the stranger."

General Garibaldi has issued a proclamation summoning the Italians to the legations to arms, and a collision is shortly expected.

Arrival of the Overland Mail.
St. Louis, October 16.

The Overland Mail with dates to the 23d ult. has arrived here.

The Agricultural Fair at Sacramento was largely attended from all parts of the State. Crowds of politicians congregated there, and the canvass for the successor to Senator Broderick had already commenced. General Denver and Governor Weller appear to be the strongest candidates at present, but at least half a dozen others are striving for the place.

Broderick's estate is valued at $130,000, which is encumbered to the amount of $85,000. He left no will, and it was supposed, no relatives, but two persons in San Francisco named Edmund Welch and Lucy Brown claim the estate, being, as they assert, cousins in the second degree.

The Sacramento (Democratic) Standard states, on the authority of a prominent Antislaveryite and a warm supporter of Broderick, that he (Broderick) in his room at San Francisco, just before receiving the challenge from Terry, said that he expected to receive challenges from Terry, Gwin and Denver, and that he expected to kill all three of them before leaving for Washington.

A Pacific Railroad Convention, composed of delegates from all the Pacific States and Territories, was in session at San Francisco, and was very largely attended. John Bidwell, of California, was chosen President, and Edward Landon, of Washington Territory, and Alexander P. Ankey, of Oregon, Vice-Presidents.

A vast amount of statistics and argument in favor of various routes, and in favor of the road itself, comprising the substance of the proceedings thus far, but it was believed that some action to build California's portion of the road will be recommended before the convention adjourns.

The business demands from the country had improved somewhat, but importers were doing very little. A cargo of eight thousand bags of Rio Coffee, by W.B. Scranton, had been sold at auction, averaging $14 25¢ per bag. Provisions nominal. Sugar heavy.

From Washington.
Washington, October 16.

Whatever newspaper speculations may be indulged in concerning the San Juan dispatch, it is known that both Governments are treating the subject in a spirit of calmness, and there is nothing whatever to induce the belief that the entire matter will not be amicably adjusted.

The latest foreign advices, as well as what has transpired in Washington, strengthen this assertion, concerning the present State of the question.

The Democratic National Committee, of which Judge Samuel J. May, of Vermont, is Chairman, and Hon. C. L. Vallandigham, of Ohio, and others are Secretaries, will, early this week, issue an official notice for a meeting of the Committee on the 7th of December, in this city, to fix the time for the meeting of the Charleston convention.

The dedication of the new Catholic Church of St. Aloysius, to-day, was witnessed by perhaps the largest crowd that ever gathered here on a similar occasion.

The President and several members of the Cabinet and Foreign Ministers, were present. Archbishop Hughes preached and celebrated the mass.

In view of the probable ratification of our new treaty with the Chinese Empire, a summary of the trade at Shanghai, for the year 1858, has been made at the State Department, from which it appears that the aggregate imports were nearly $34,000,000, and the aggregate exports $59,000,000—the total value of the opium imported being upward of $23,500,000.

The inward and outward tonnage shows four hundred and sixty-four British, one hundred and fifty-three American, and five hundred and fifteen of other nations.

The New Orleans papers of Tuesday last have received the details of Mexican news received from Minutilla are very contradictory.

Advices from Pensacola say that the United States steamer Fulton is being taken to the beach at Santa Rosa; she is to be remodeled and thoroughly refitted at the Pensacola Navy-yard.

Western News.
St. Louis, October 16.

A special dispatch to the Republican says that Captain Simpson and party reached Leavenworth, yesterday morning, from California, via Camp Floyd. The captain reports his return route from California to Camp Floyd better than the outward one. Both are two hundred and fifty miles shorter than the Humboldt River route, a much superior grade, and also more wood, water and grass.

Captain Simpson also, by direction of General Johnson, explored a new pass through the Uinta Mountains, which will shorten Gunnison's route to Camp Floyd about one hundred miles, and in case a pass is found through the Rocky Mountains, directly east of Uinta River, a route will have been obtained shorter than any now across the plains.

The Case of Bishop Onderdonk.
RICHMOND, October 16.

Parties who are familiar with church affairs say that the report in relation to the action of the House of Bishops, on the restoration of Bishop Onderdonk, is most probably unfounded. On the other hand, the rumor is again repeated, and the vote is now said to have been twenty-eight against and six for restoration. Nothing can be ascertained of a positive character.

Arrival of the Star of the West.
New York, October 16.

The steamer Star of the West has arrived with the California mails, about three hundred and fifty passengers and $1,800,000 in treasure. She made the run from Key West with only one engine in consequence of the accident by which her shaft was broken.

Her dates from California have been anticipated.

Outward Bound.
New York, October 16.

The steamer City of Manchester sailed for Liverpool at noon to-day with $850,000 in specie.
